Boxing Rabbit Vineyard

Across Texas, a wide variety of climates, soil types, and elevations create conditions that are ideal for an equally diverse collection of varieties. These vineyards represent that diversity from subtropical to semi-desert to desert conditions, from hilly to flat plateau to mountainous.

VINTAGE NOTE

Non-vintage wine – Blended from 2025 and 2024 harvest years – Practiced for balance

SOIL TYPE Decomposed granite, red sandy loam, and ancient river rock over caliche

ELEVATION 860 to 3,750 feet

WITH FOOD

Pair with creamy sauces and cheeses, rice dishes, and char-grilled seafood. This wine asks for flavors from pork, tomato, and starch!

STYLE NOTES

"Lilting aromatics that swing from delicate cranberry, rosewater, red raspberry, and white peach to stone, mandarin, sage, and flaky pastry. The flavors follow similarly – from fruity to zesty – and end in a pleasantly toasty, dry finish. Well layered with broad bubbles."

Drink before 2034
Serve at 45° F

WINEMAKING

Harvested between July and August across multiple vintages. Fermented and aged separately in a mix of concrete, stainless steel, and neutral barrel. The cuvée was blended and bottled for secondary fermentation.
